<td>Venue good and bad points (1) ashore and (2) afloat</td>
<td>The Club very sensibly used as technical event consultant Lligé Manel. He was exceptionally knowledgeable and made the event work smoothly from the technical point of view. The language issues for the shore side were also very well handled by an internal appointee and her assistance was also much appreciated. - ASHORE: Excellent facilities at the local sailing centre. The slipway can be difficult to get out of in a contrary breeze but the club did provide a good number of volunteers. The club and their principal liaison person in particular were first class - AFLOAT: Excellent racing held outside the bay for 5 out of the 6 racing days. On the final day the racing was inside the bay opposite the dinghy park on the far side as the tidal conditions provided a suitable period of time. 1) Santander can clearly cope with all sizes of events if it puts its mind to it. 2) Generally in terms of class logistics of running a World Championship? (not venue specific points) None</td>
